Class: U.S. and World History Teacher: Mr. Barb

- 2-pocket folder
- Crayola Markers

Class: Biology Honors and AP Teacher: Mr. Chong

- 3-ring binder (or some other note-taking apparatus like a notebook, binder, or organizing folder)
 - I do not mind if the student shares a binder with multiple subjects/classes
- 4-function or scientific calculator (I recommend TI-36X Pro which is ~$20 at Walmart/Amazon)
 - I personally keep and use my TI-36X Pro to this day. It really is a worthy investment in my opinion.

- Graph paper notebook for labs o this could be composition, spiral, or even note pad (though I'd recommend spiral since it lays flat)
 - These run $5-10 from what I have seen on Amazon

Class: Chemistry Honors and AP

Teacher: Mr. Chong

- 3-ring binder (dividers optional, but recommended for notes, hw, quizzes, tests, etc.)
 - I do not mind if the student shares this binder with multiple subjects/classes
- Calculator:
 - Required: scientific calculator (I recommend TI-36X Pro which is ~$20 Walmart), OR
 - Any TI-84 Series (digital graphing calculator, can be ~$90-$120 Walmart/Amazon) § if your student plans on taking any AP STEM courses, a TI-84 is a worthy investment (can be useful in college as well). Please let me know if you have trouble affording it.
 - <https://ti84calc.com/ti84calc> - This website allows you to use the TI-84 for free on the computer
- Graph paper notebook for labs o this could be composition, spiral, or even note pad (though I'd recommend spiral since it lays flat)
 - These run $5-10 from what I have seen on Amazon
